KLAUS FABER AG

Klaus Faber AG supplies standard cables and connectivity solutions for the grid infrastructure, custom power reeling and drag chain cables for shore-side electricity supply, and flexible crane cables.

From the grid to the end termination point for large port equipment

For your port upgrade, we supply cables for the grid infrastructure and shore-side systems, from fixed machinery cabling to flexible crane cables for all applications.

Europe's largest stock of reeling medium-voltage reeling cables

To modernize your cranes, we supply an unrivalled, vendor-independent portfolio of medium-voltage reeling cables from 6/10 up to 12/20 kV – also preassembled, on request.

characterized by their robust construction. They are the ideal solution for continuous operation in ports and container terminals, as well as for the reliable power supply of ship and construction cranes, excavators, and a variety of other lifting equipment. Our systems meet the high demands of mobile consumers in terms of high speeds, dynamic processes, long travel distances, and high pulling forces. Each installation situation and supply task is individually assessed to configure the optimal cable drum with the appropriate drive and customized accessories.
